WALTER FREDERICK SANDERS
Dean, Park College

Realizing the needs of the students, and especially those of the freshmen, Dean Walter F. Sanders has played a large part in the making of the new curriculum for Park College. He has encouraged students who have the initiative and ability to take honors work. He has always displayed a spirit of tolerance and broadmindedness.

Two years ago Dean Sanders made a visit to a number of Presbyterian colleges in order to study their methods of teaching, gathering material for the new curriculum. He is and always has been alert to the opportunities of education. He has contributed several articles dealing with honors work and Park's teaching methods to various educational magazines.

The University of Chicago granted Dean Sanders his A.B. and A.M. degrees. He has completed his residence work at the Ohio State University and has had his research and subject for thesis approved for his Ph.D. degree from that institution.

Before coming to Park, Dean Sanders taught at the Harvard School in Chicago. He is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, American Association of University Professors, National Educational Association, American Scandinavian Foundation, American Legion and the Missouri State Committee of the Y. M. C. A. Dean Sanders' name will also be found on the rolls of the following honorary organizations: Who's Who in American Education, Who's Who in America, Leaders in Education, Theta Alpha Phi, Pi Kappa Delta, Beta Pi Theta, and Alpha Delta.

DIVISION OF NATURAL SCIENCES

According to Dean W. F. Sanders, more freshmen are interested in science than in any other division. Under the new curriculum arrangement the following are included in the Natural Science division: Biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and home economics.

Wakefield Science Hall, built in 1926, is equipped with classrooms and laboratories for biology, chemistry and physics. The mathematics department is located in Mackay and the home economics laboratory and class rooms in the basement of Alumni Hall.

For more than thirty years Professor M. C. Findlay has been at the head of the department of biology, coming to Park in 1892. During these years he has organized and developed the department until it includes not only biology but many allied courses. The basement and first floor of the science hall are devoted to class rooms and laboratories of the biology department. Professor Findlay is assisted by Mr. L. R. Setty, who is a graduate of the University of Kansas.

Professor H. G. Parker, head of the department of chemistry, has been at Park only two years, but he has made an enviable place for himself both among the students and his fellow teachers. Mr. C. F. Metz is instructor in chemistry and physics.

The department of physics is one of the oldest departments of science at Park. Professor R. A. Rogers is head of the department.

Astronomy, surveying and mechanical drawing are some of the courses offered in the mathematics department besides the regular mathematics courses. Professor R. A. Wells is head of the department, having come to Park in 1912. He is assisted by Professor L. A. Robbins, who is also head of the department of physical education, and Miss Mary Strain, a member of the 1931 graduating class of Park.

Professor Margaret Lorimer, head of the department of home economics, has made that department one of the most valuable in the curriculum. Modern equipment in the laboratory has aided greatly in the development of the department.

W. A. Cook

Mary R. Harrison M. H. Wilson

J. W. Teener

PHILOSOPHY, PSYCHOLOGY, RELIGION AND EDUCATION

The reorganized curriculum has placed philosophy, psychology, religion and education in this division. Philosophy has long been an important department at Park, having been established in 1893 in conjunction with psychology. Later the two departments were separated. The Mrs. George S. Park department of Bible and Christian training was one of the original departments in the college, and has progressed as the college has grown in the fifty-five years since its establishment. Psychology and education were formerly one department, but they are now divided.

Professor W. A. Cook, head of the department of philosophy, is finishing his sixteenth year at Park. His courses in Contemporary Philosophy and Philosophy of Religion are proving especially popular this year.

At the head of the department of psychology is Professor M. H. Wilson. Professor Wilson has not only done a great deal of research work in psychology among Park students, but has also written several books. At one time Professor Wilson was head of the department of education.

Professor Mary R. Harrison is now head of the department of education. She devotes a great deal of her time to the supervision of the practice teachers. Six hours credit is granted to senior students who do one semester's teaching in the Parkville High School. Mr. James Godard, who has an A.B. degree from Park and an A.M. degree from Duke University, is instructor in education.

The department of Bible offers preparatory courses for entrance to theological seminaries. The requirements of the department are such as to give each student at least nine hours instruction in some phase of Christian study before he can secure his degree from Park. Professor J. W. Teener, who has just returned from a year's study at the University of Chicago, is head of the department. Reverend J. W. Voorhis is an associate professor and Reverend Francis L. Bouquet is part-time associate professor in the department.

E. E. Lyon

division of LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

There are four departments included in the Division of Language and Literature. The department of English literature offers English, dramatics and journalism. Such courses as Chaucer, Victorian Era and Technique of Teaching English are offered in the upper class division. Special emphasis is placed on the fundamentals of English in the freshman courses. Placement tests upon entrance is required, so that some idea of the amount of training the student has acquired in high school may be determined.

Professor Ethel E. Lyon is head of the department of English. She secured her A.M. degree from Columbia University and has studied at Cambridge University in England. Professor Lyon has charge of the Honors Work in the English department, and devotes much of her time to supervision of the eleven students engaged in English Honors study.

Miss Esther Sullivan, a graduate of Otterbein College, with an A.M. degree from the Ohio State University, is an instructor in the English department. Mr. Asher Bard, instructor in Journalism and English, came to Park from Pennsylvania, where he has been associated with the Pittsburgh Press. He received his A.B. degree from the University of Oklahoma.

The department of languages offers courses in three modern foreign languages: French, German and Spanish. This year, due to the death of Dr. Wolfe, only one course has been offered in the classical languages. French is the only foreign language in which Honors Work is being done this year. Professor Miriram Wilson is Acting Chairman of the department of modern foreign languages, and is professor of French. Professor Wilson has just returned from a year's study at the University of Paris.

Miss Elsa Grueneberg is instructor in German. During the summer months and the first semester, Miss Grueneberg was in Germany, where she attended sessions at the Universities of Freiborg and Berlin. She also traveled in various parts of the country.

Mrs. Jeanette Robbins, who has an A.M. from the University of Kansas, and Mr. Antonio Ramirez, a graduate of Park in 1931, are instructors in Spanish.

R. V. Magers

H. L. Williams

F. W. Beers

DIVISION OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

Park College has a Social Science division which offers a wide field of subjects to students interested. The department of history is the largest, with some ten courses in various phases of history offered each semester.

Professor R. V. Magers, head of the department of history and political science, is a graduate of Park of the class of 1893. He has an A.M. degree from the University of Chicago. Professor Magers has made many trips abroad, conducting small groups of tourists through cities and countries on the continent. Professor Neil H. Baxter, who has spent several years in Paraguay and in other Latin American countries studying and teaching, is associate professor in the department of history. He also has an A.M. degree from the University of Chicago.

The sociology department offers courses such as the Family and Criminology, while such subjects as Economic History of the United States and Social Control of Business are representative of the department of economics.

Professor Homer Williams is head of this department. He secured his A.M. degree from Transylvania College and has done graduate work at the University of Chicago.

The department of public speaking has always been recognized as an important department at Park. It trains students for oratory, debate and other phases of public speaking. Professor F. W. Beers, head of the department, is a graduate of Northwestern University. Professor Beers is also superintendent of the printing office.

Professor John Barnes is associate professor of the department of public speaking, and coach of debate. He is also a graduate of Northwestern University. Before coming here in 1930 he served as professor of speech at Iowa State for two years. There is always a great deal of interest aroused in the annual contests in public speaking, which include the Lawrence Oratorical Contest, the Verrill Declamatory Contest, and the Harry S. Jewett Oratorical Contest.

Schall, Morrow, Knight, Shannon, Morrison.

OTHER ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS

Business affairs of the college require the attention of the following officers: Business manager, assistant business manager, secretary to the president, and secretary to the dean.

Mr. David M. Knight is business manager of the college and also secretary of the Board of Trustees. He holds the degrees of A.B. and A.M. from Washington and Jefferson College.

Mrs. Bess D. Shannon, assistant business manager, was formerly connected with Hendricks College in a similar position.

As secretary to President Hawley, Miss Hazel Morrow has held her position since her graduation from Park in 1927.

Miss Oleva Morrison was appointed secretary to Dean Sanders this year, which position she holds in addition to carrying honors work in history.

Another important position is that of Dean of Women. Mrs. Ruth Schall, graduate of Monmouth College, supervises the activities of the women and acts as superintendant of women's family work.

FINE ARTS AND MUSIC

Recent additions to the art collection, and the installment of a pipe organ this year, encourages the hope of establishing a strong department of fine arts and music at Park in the very near future.

Mr. Lawrence S. Frank, a graduate of Oberlin College with degrees of A.B. and B. Mus., is the first full time instructor in music at Park in recent years. Mr. Frank offers courses in pipe organ, piano and harmony, in addition to being director of the Men's Glee Club.

Professor Claude Rader gives instruction in string instruments and orchestral training, and also directs the Park College Orchestra and Band.

Professor R. V. Magers has charge of the Park College choir and Mrs. A. B. Brewster gives lessons in voice.

"Elementary Drawing and Design" and "History of Art" are two of the courses offered by instructors from the Kansas City Art Institute, Mr. Austin Ketcham and Mr. W. W. Rosenbaur.

STUDENT BODY GOVERNMENT

Each year representatives from various organizations are elected to constitute the group known as the student council. The students thus chosen are considered the most efficient and capable members of their respective organizations.

The student council meets once a month to discuss school problems and offer suggestions for their solution. One chapel period every week is devoted to student body business, with a program prepared or sponsored by some group on the campus such as the Cu Cu Club, the various girls' dormitories, the Women's Glee Club, the Band, etc. The council is also responsible for selection of the programs which are provided for by the student enterprise fund.

Eight officers of the student council are elected each spring from the student body at large. These officers are as follows: The President, the Vice-President, the Secretary-Treasurer of the student body; the editor and business manager of the Stylus and Narva; and the President of the Men's Athletic Association.

THE NEW CURRICULUM AT PARK COLLEGE

In May, 1931, the Faculty of Park College adopted a new curriculum. This curriculum was the result of a careful co-operative study by the entire faculty during the academic year 1930-31. The new organization is designed to meet the present needs of students who seek a liberal arts education. Those who co-operated in this study believe that the new organization will afford greater opportunities to the student to develop and express his creative interests and abilities, and that it will free the student from artificial and unnatural requirements that interfere with true education. The new program makes provision for an individual plan of study for each student at the beginning of the freshman year. Provision is also made for desirable stimulating personal contacts between the teacher and students.

In beginning the study of the curriculum the departments of the college were organized into four general divisions in order to facilitate exchange of opinion and promote a careful study of particular problems in certain fields. This organization was found so effective that it has been adopted as a permanent feature of the organization of the new curriculum. Members of the teaching staff within these groups met throughout the year for a number of important conferences. Special committees were also appointed to study the objectives of liberal arts education, the vocational interests of the present student body and the professions and types of work which graduates of the college have engaged in. In this study an attempt was made to discover the real needs of students of today and those elements which go to make up a unified, stimulating intellectual experience for the student. Any demands on the curriculum based merely on tradition, or departmental interests, or on prejudice, were disregarded. The professional spirit shown by the faculty in this study was most encouraging.

Under the provisions of the new curriculum instruction is offered in four divisions: I—Natural Science and Mathematics, II—Social Sciences, III—Language and Literature, IV—A combined group, consisting of Education, Philosophy, Psychology and Religion. A chairman of each division is appointed annually by the President and Dean. Any general requirements will depend to a large extent upon the field or division where the student elects to do the greater part of his work. The time required by the student to complete his work for the degree will depend entirely upon the ability of the student. It is important to add that Park College does not engage in intercollegiate athletics and can, therefore, consistently emphasize an intellectual program.

In the lower division the work of the usual two years is regarded as a unit. An individual program of study is organized at the beginning of the freshman year for each student. Naturally the new organization places special emphasis on the orientation of freshmen. The college restricts its entire enrollment to 500. Approximately 175 freshmen are admitted each year. Admission is selective. Only 35 per cent of the students come from the state in which the college is located.

A new program for freshmen forms one of the bases of the new curriculum. When each student arrives he is placed in the hands of a faculty advisor who has already been supplied with data concerning the student's record and characteristics. On the basis of this knowledge, the advisor is able to refer the student to the head of one of the four main divisions, under whose guidance the freshman makes out a preliminary program of study. This advisory relationship continues throughout the college course.

When the student is found qualified to be admitted to the upper division, or senior college, he has the option of pursuing work in (1) regular courses or (2) Honors courses, or independent work. Park College introduced Honors work in 1927. This plan has yielded satisfactory results and has offered exceptional opportunities for students capable of undertaking this type of work. At the present time students in the following fields are reading for Honors: English Literature, Mathematics, Romance Languages, History and Political Science, and Social Science.

Students who wish to pursue the regular course work in the upper division are required to elect formally a field of concentration, naturally a culmination of their interests and special work in the lower division. The final test of the quality of the student's work is the comprehensive examination in the field of concentration given near the end of the senior year. The general comprehensive examination will be required of all candidates for a degree. The plan of a general comprehensive examination was adopted by the faculty in 1929, and became a requirement for all candidates for the degree in 1930-31. Most of the departments at present offer a co-ordinating course in the senior year to prepare the student for the comprehensive examination.

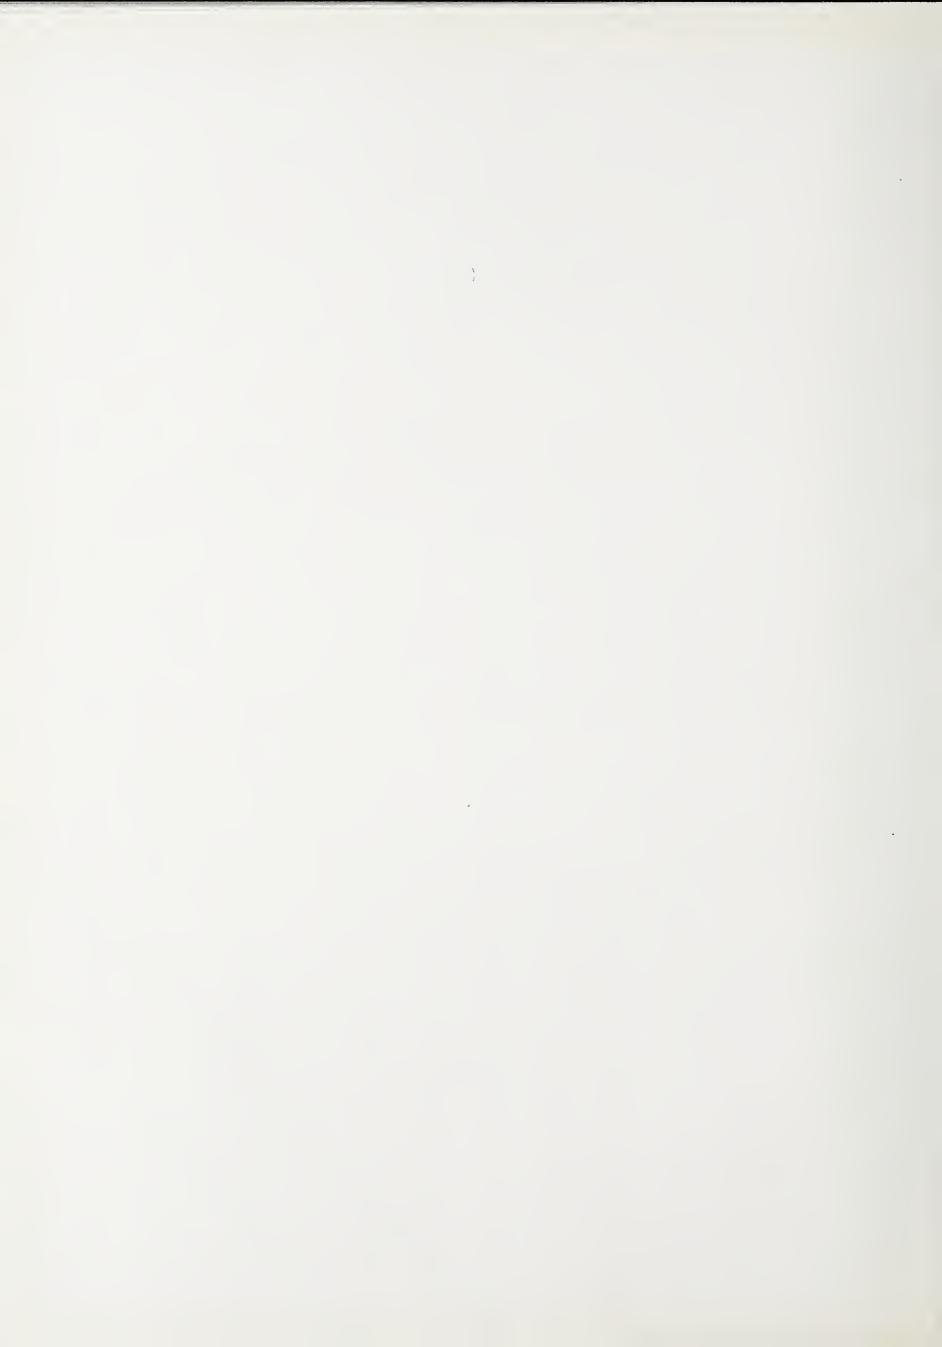

It is evident that the department will have the opportunity of catching the interest of the student early in his educational career and preparing him carefully for the culminating work of the last two years. It is apparent also that there will normally be considerable difference in teaching methods in the upper and lower divisions. In the upper division the student can be placed on his own responsibility to a greater degree and should become familiar, at least to a certain extent, with elementary research. In a small college adding one or more courses does not necessarily increase the effectiveness of the department, but rather in securing unity and purpose in all the work of the department.

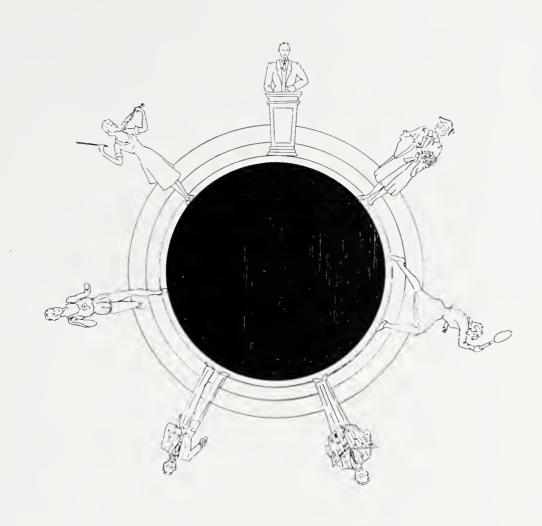

The special features of the new organization are: (1) a serious attempt to serve the needs and interests of the individual student, (2) a desirable advisory relationship from the very beginning of the student's career in college through conferences with the chairmen of divisions and departments, (3) a definite breaking away from artificial departmental lines and the encouragement of a better organization of instructional work within a natural grouping of departments, (4) special opportunities for studdents to do independent or Honors work in the upper division of the college. (5) a comprehensive examination to test the quality of the student's work.

When I was one-and-twenty I heard a wise man say, "Give crowns and pounds and guineas But not your heart away; Give pearls away and rubies But keep your fancy free." But I was one-and-twenty, No use to talk to me. When I was one-and-twenty I heard him say again, "The heart out of the bosom Was never given in vain; 'Tis paid with sighs aplenty And sold for endless rue." And I am two-and-twenty, And oh, 'tis true, 'tis true.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A source of pleasure and physical development is to be found in the physical education department. Many students who do not go in for the various athletic contests held on the campus are able to secure physical exercise by taking advantage of the opportunities offered by this department. The department meets the requirements of the state of Missouri in granting teachers' certificates.

Baseball, soccer, volleyball and tumbling are offered in the courses given by the department. It is the purpose of the instructor, Leon S. Robbins, to give such thorough education in the various lines that each student will be able to coach a physical education class if he chooses to do so after graduation.

Besides training students for teaching, the courses serve to fit the men for several club and class athletic activities which take place during the year.

Professor Robbins intends to add new features to the department from time to time, with the end in view of making a comprehensive system of athletic instruction, the benefits of which would reach as many as possible who are interested in the work. This year he organized a volleyball class composed of faculty members. The result was that many members of the teaching staff turned out to obtain relaxation from their academic duties. No doubt much superfluous weight was removed and many muscles were stiffened if not hardened

CLUB BASKETBALL

The suspicions of the dopesters were confirmed as the Orions took four straight games to win the club basketball supremacy. The final game was played March 12.

Going into the last quarter of the last game with a single point advantage, the boys in green began a drive which netted thirteen points and clinched the game by a score of 28-16. Lowe with four baskets was the spark plug of this spurt which kept the championship intact for another year. Three times in the first half the score was tied and the Lowells went into the rest period holding a 13-10 advantage. At the end of the third quarter the Orions were in front, 15-14.

Eson opened the scoring with a toss from the middle of the floor. Harmon tied it by making a set-up after dribbling down the side. Castle converted two free throws and Eson one. Harmon made a charity shot and Calfee tied up the score at 5.5. Dyer scored just before the quarter ended.

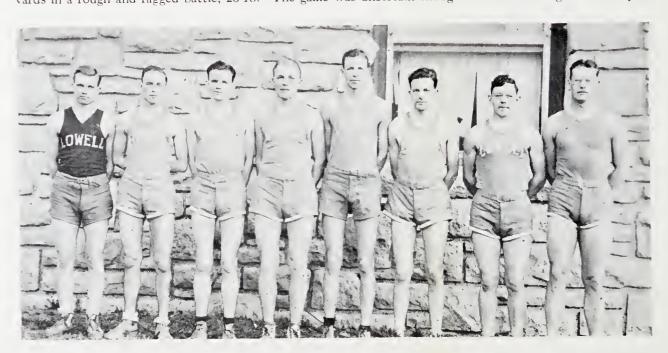

Harmon proved to be perhaps the most dangerous man on the Lowell squad, but when Long was assigned to watch him his style was noticeably cramped.

Dyer led the scoring for the entire tournament with 45 points, while Harmon was second with 35, having played in only three games. Young and Porter were mainstays of the Lowell attack.

In the game previous to the final one, the Orions had cinched a tie for first place by defeating the Parchevards in a rough and ragged battle, 26-18. The game was uncertain enough to be interesting from the spectators' point of view. The outcome was not sure till late in the final period, but there the Parchies began to have such terrible luck with their shots that hope of winning a championship began to dwindle. Many of the boys were nursing physical ailments and as a consequence the match was rather slow in point of floor work. Dyer was easily the outstanding man with 10 points contributed to the score.

The Lowells were able to take second place in the tournament by winning one game from the Parchement of the lateral legion all these parts.

vards, the latter losing all three games.

Second team games were played on the same nights as the regular contests, and proved to be entertaining to spectators.

CLASS BASKETBALL

Again the freshmen proved too good a team for the other squads, and this year turned in five victories with only one defeat. Second place in the class tournament was divided between the juniors and sophomores, each team winning three games and losing three.

each team winning three games and losing three.

Although the seniors won only one tilt, they put up a good fight in every game and always presented a strong threat. Allison Lowe probably was the most valuable man to the senior team.

The result of the class series was the bringing to light of good material to be used later in the club series, and served to assist local athletic prophets in determining which club would win. Castle, of the juniors, proved from the first to be one of the most dangerous men, both in point of scoring and in floor work. He was named on the all-star team selected by the Men's Athletic Association and the Stylus.

The team captains were: Seniors, Scott; juniors, Seuell; sophomores, Lusk; freshmen, Hensley. Lowe, Castle and Stuhrman were the three highest scorers in the series.

TENNIS

The doubles tennis tournament which is sponsored annually by the Y. M. C. A. was won this year by Dick Heu and Harry Porter, taking the final match from George Kimpton and Harold Ellison. Five sets were necessary to determine who should wear the Y. M. C. A. medals. The final score was 2-6, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, 11-9.

Kimpton and Ellison won the first set easily and led 5-3 in the second set, having the match fairly well under control, but Porter and Heu rallied and took four straight games to win the set. The new champs dropped the third set, but ran out the fourth.

Kimpton's service and Porter's snappy overhead work and well-placed drives were outstanding in the match.

Porter and Heu had previously won over Bob Mayne and Art Dyer to reach the finals, while Kimpton and Ellison won their right to play Porter and Heu by virtue of their victory over Riggs and Long in the semi-finals. Ellison displayed brilliant court work and Heu's tricky lobs made it difficult for Riggs and Long to return the ball.

In the match before the semi-finals, Kimpton and Ellison defeated Smith and Bain, and Riggs and Long won over Hamilton and Harndon.

In the initial match of the tournament Calfee and Walker lost to Kimpton and Ellison. The game was one of the most brilliant of the series.

A little tennis action.

CLUB TRACK

One of the major athletic events at Park is the intra-mural track and field meet held in May. Last spring the Parchevard offering collected a total of 62 points to take the meet. The Orions, then known as the Websters, were second with $47\frac{1}{2}$ points, and the Lowells were able to make $25\frac{1}{2}$ points.

A new pole vault record of 10 feet 6 inches was set by Ralph Watson, and Harry Turner beat his own record in the high jump, clearing 5 feet 7 2-10 inches. Turner also tied his old broad jump mark of 21 feet 6 inches, while Paul Hostetter was right on his heels with 21 feet 4 inches.

Harold Murphy, a senior, proved to be the dark horse of the meet by taking three of the speed events—the 50, the 100, and the 220-yard dashes.

Turner was the meet's high scorer with 19 points; Ralph Watson was second with 17, and Harold Murphy was third with 15.

Perhaps the most interesting event of the series was the mile relay won by the Orions in the fast time of 4 minutes and 7 seconds.

Other events and their winners were: Mile run, Harris (O), time, 5:11; shot put, Turner (P), 30 feet 9 inches; javelin, Long (O), 142 feet 7 inches; discus, Scheib (O), 95.75 feet; 440-yard dash, Baird (O), 58 2-10 seconds; 880-yard run, McIntyre (O), time, 2 minutes, 19 9-10 seconds; high hurdles, 60 yards, Watson (P), time 8 8-10 seconds; low hurdles, 110 yards, Crichton (O), time, 13 7-10 seconds; 440-yard relay, Parchevards, time, 50 seconds.

CROSS COUNTRY

Bob Waggoner, Parchevard entry, showed a muddy pair of heels to a field of twenty-five distance runners and came in strong to win the annual cross-country marathon last November. The course was extremely unfavorable in point of footing, and running conditions were made worse by a drizzle. Waggoner's time was 23 minutes and 42 seconds for the 3.6 mile course. The time made by Waggoner was greater by 37 seconds than that made by the winner last year, Kay Harris, who ran the distance in 23 minutes and 5 seconds.

Harris, an Orion, came in second in this season's race with a clocking of 24 minutes and 23 seconds. Paul Hostetter, Lowell, ran a close third.

The Orion Club took second, fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth places to win the event as a club. Highest honors for individual prowess went to the Parchevards for owning the winning man.

Points were awarded in the following manner by Coach L. A. Robbins: First place, 1 point; second place, 2 points; third place, 3 points: fourth place, 4 points, etc., down to the fifteenth man, counting, however, no more than five men from each club. Following is the list of the first ten men to finish the race with the initial of their club:

- Waggoner (P)
- Harris (O)
- HOSTETTER (L)
- PATTON (O) BAIN (O)

- CARPENTER (O)
- HERRING (L)
- 8. Throw (O)
- 9. Brandner (O)
- Perry (L) 10.

MEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

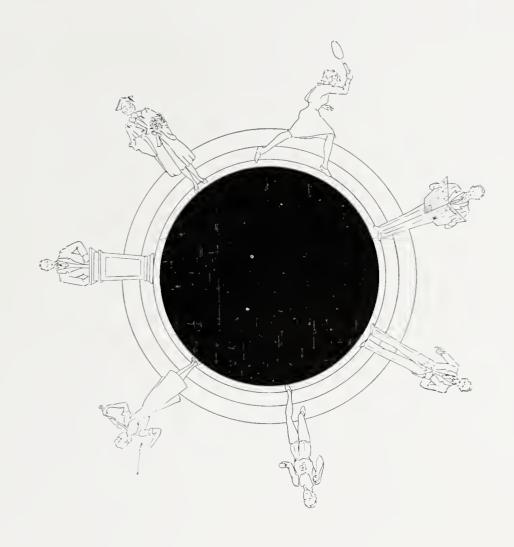

For obvious reasons, Park College cannot participate in inter-collegiate athletics. Physical education and a variety of intra-mural sports provide an outlet for students of an athletic turn of mind, contributing to the physical development of the students and fostering the principle of sportsmanship.

Behind the purpose of improving the athletic life of the college is the Men's Athletic Association, an organization composed of two members from each club and one representative of the student body as a whole.

The association promotes not only the athletic life of the students, but also is instrumental in securing many of the improvements of the athletic department. Some of these have been the improvement of the gymnasium, the athletic field, and the making of new tennis courts, the work of that nature which was begun last year.

One of the duties of the body is to name a chairman to take charge of each of the major athletic events or series of events which take place during the school year. This has been invaluable in the arrangement of the athletic contests and the provision of the officials.

The president of the association is Max Coleman, who is also the representative of the student body. The secretary-treasurer is Allison Lowe, one of the Orion members. L. A. Robbins, instructor in physical education, is the group's advisor. The other representatives are: Orion, Arthur Dyer; Lowell, Kenneth Eason and Harry Porter; Parchevard, Woodson Seuell and James Foster. The chairmen for the various athletic events are: Baseball, Arthur Young; basketball, Woodson Seuell; cross-country, Paul Hostetter; tennis, Arthur Dyer; track, Kenneth Eason.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The referee for women's athletics is Mrs. Jeanette Robbins, director of the women's physical education department. She is the backbone of the girls' athletics on the campus and her suggestions, her energy, and her co-operation with club teams, have made the athletic season on the campus more worthwhile and more efficient.

Youth searching for life finds expression in athletics. No field of college activity offers a better opportunity for developing good sportsmanship and honor than do athletics.

Since its establishment the Women's Athletic Association has had for its purpose the betterment of the athletic life of the college, and has sponsored various athletic activities with the general welfare of the student group in view. The results of these efforts have built for the college an athletic program which compares favorably with that of other small schools.

The association sponsors contests in hockey, volleyball, tennis, basketball and base-ball. Athletic prowess is recognized in the college by granting college sweaters and letters by the Women's Athletic Association. The awards are made according to a point system based upon active participation in athletics and the practice of good sportsmanship at all times.

Jean Lyons, Lucerne captain and forward, is a valuable player because she is always "there."

Maxine Kinch, Aurora captain, plays forward on the Aurora team. "Max" is fast, a sure shot, and plays good teamwork.

WOMEN'S CLUB BASKETBALL

Inter-club basketball for this year, though rather late in the season, developed some close, fast competition. The Lucernes with a big advantage in height over the Calliopeans and Auroras easily won the tournament. The Lucerne captain was Jean Lyons, who played a forward position on the team. The Calliopean team was captained by Clara Faris playing guard, and the Aurora six by Maxine Kinch, forward.

Stellar playing on the forward court during the season was most marked in the Lucerne team playing of Janice Harding and Sybil Nash, and on the Aurora team with Maxine Kinch. Competition in the center court was closer and more evenly matched throughout the tournament. The tournament was sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. Max Coleman and Allison Lowe refereed the games.

HOCKEY

Bernice Dunlap, captain of the Aurora hockey team, playing center halfback and right full back on her team, led the Auroras to a hard-fought victory over the Calliopeans. Besides playing hockey, Miss Dunlap is a member of the Aurora volleyball, basketball and baseball teams. She is a good allaround player and a candidate for a school sweater.

By winning the first game of the season from the Calliopeans the Aurora hockey team won the championship, winning three games and tying one. The Calliopeans won two and tied one, and the Lucernes did not win any, being handicapped by the lack of players.

The defense set-up of all three teams was far superior to the offense work. The quick, short passes of the Aurora forwards won through the opponent's defense for goals.

The Aurora players were B. Dunlap (Captain), Studdard, Counts, M. Crawford, Kieser, Kilmer, Doll, L. Wilson, Pierce, Oien and Schmidt.

The Calliopean players were Emerson (Captain), Chambers, Mudd, Malan, Bromley, Boorem, Parry, I. Dunlap, Bardrick, Shupe and Scheerer.

The Lucerne players were MacDonald (Captain), Janisch, Judeisch, Markward, Halsted, M. Medill, Harvey, Hummel, Durbin, E. Wright, Goerner and Jepson.

The captains of the teams, together with Mrs. Robbins, selected a mythical varsity team from the three club teams. Those considered the best players were as follows:

Schmidt, Eddy, Dunlap, Kieser, Doll, Oien. L. Wilson, Kilmer. Studdard, Crawford, Counts.

Elizabeth Wright, better known as "Uncle Dudley," captained the Lucerne volley ball team, losing only one game in the tournament. She is also a member of the Lucerne hockey and baseball teams. When it comes to keeping the eye on the ball, "Uncle Dud" is right there. She was second high point player in the tournament.

VOLLEYBALL

By a margin of some thirty points, the Lucerne volleyball team won the champion-ship from the Aurora team. The score of the final game was 58-32. The leading Lucerne scorer was Mary Frances Polk; Calliopean scorer, Elizabeth Thomas; Aurora scorer, Dorothy Studdard. Out of the four games played in the tournament, the Lucernes won three and lost one by one point to the Auroras. The Calliopeans did not score a win this season.

The Lucerne line-up was composed of Polk, Wright, Jenkins, Goerner, S. Medill, McGeehan and Harvey.

The Aurora line-up was composed of Keifer, Oien, Studdard, Kilmer, M. Witt, Dunlap and Eddy.

The Calliopean line-up was composed of Mudd, Emerson, Shupe, Munson, Weathers, Chambers and E. Thomas.

The varsity mythical volleyball team as chosen by the captains and Mrs. Robbins was as follows:

DOROTHY STUDDARD (A) ELIZABETH THOMAS (C) MARY FRANCES POLK (L) Mildred Witt (A)
Margaret Mudd (C)
Elizabeth Wright (L)

Goerner, S. Medill, McGeehan, Polk. E. Wright, Jenkins, Janisch.

"OUTWARD BOUND"

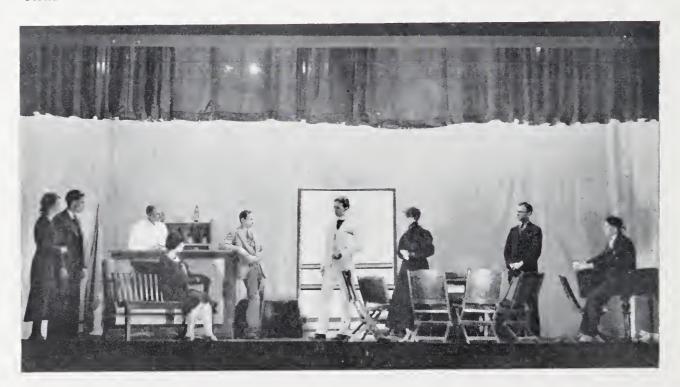

by SUTTON VANE

Mrs. Midget (Norma Parry) registers compassion as her son, Tom Prior (Edwin Withington) faces the awful justice of the Examiner, and struggles with his fear of the unknown retribution that waits for him beyond. Mrs. Midget's concern is intensified by her son's ignorance of her identity, and her knowledge of his moral degradation.

Sailing into the sunset on a ship that has no crew, no captain, no engine, no rigging, and only an old steward who is death himself—this is the situation of Sutton Vane's Outward Bound, which a picked cast sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic fraternity, produced on the college stage in January. The production was extremely successful, not only because the play is excellently written, but because it was admirably produced.

The setting is on a boat which is taking the various passengers to the other world, and the atmosphere is one of suspense and uneasiness such as one would expect to accompany such a voyage. The characters come from various walks of life and the very nucleus of the play is the presentation of their hopes, their fears, which are experienced by all, from the hard-drinking Tom Prior to the two lovers who have made a suicide pact to escape separation. The conclusion of the play is skillfully and delicately drawn; the sympathies of the audience are with the decisions of the Examiner to the last, and all feel as though the playwright has given us a glimpse into the ever-absorbing and impenetrable future.

Alice Pitts (Ann); Max Coleman (Henry); Charles Royal (Scrubby); Alice Boorem (Mrs. Cliveden-Banks); Edwin Withington (Tom Prior); Paul Hostetter (Rev. Frank Thompson); Norma Parry (Mrs. Midget); Ralph Bonacker (Mr. Lingley); Malcolm Magers (Rev. W. Duke).

Lis Benson (Ruth Yoakum) finds it difficult to tell Bill Gordon (Paul Hostetter) that she cannot love him, in spite of what he has done for her sake, and Bill finds his desperate struggle against his own fate has been in vain; for Lis tells him he is the kind who will never be able to "hunt with the pack."

EDWIN WITHINGTON

The Junior Play this year was a distinct departure from most campus dramatic productions, in that it was not only directed by a student but was also written by a member of the class. The Real Thing concerned itself with problems which are present on every college campus, but left their solution to the audience. It was primarily a play about fear.

Bill Gordon is a sophomore whose bringing up has upset his whole adjustment to his college surroundings and has made him seek happiness in books. Here he fails to find it, and he determines to accept the advice of his normal and popular roommate. He begins a sort of social career which ends in his falling hopelessly in love with his roommate's sister, Lis Benson. She lacks a similar feeling for him, but he proves his sincerity by taking the responsibility for a grave automobile accident which is really her fault. In addition to this, Bill conquers his fears sufficiently under Lis's persuasion to row for his fraternity in a crucial race, which is lost through Bill's weakness at the important moment. The play ends as Lis tells Bill sadly that she does not love him, that he is the kind who will never be able to "follow the crowd."

THE CONTEST PLAYS

The madness of Nat Bartlett (Merwin Elwell) becomes as complete as his father's in the climactic scene of "Where the Cross is Made," the freshman contest play which tied for first place. Nat is watching the captain's former comrades who have been inmates of Davey Iones's Locker for many years.

This year, for the first time in the history of the Theta Alpha Phi interclass play contest, the judges were deadlocked in their choice of the winner, and the junior class, presenting Synge's In the Shadow of the Glen, and the freshman class with O'Neill's Where the Cross is Made, tied for first place. The other two plays in the contest were not ranked.

The junior play, one of the best works of the great Irish dramatist, was produced with a smoothness and finish unusual in campus drama. Its setting, a cottage in a lonely Irish glen, was reproduced with remarkable fidelity and realism. Mechanically, the production evidenced long hours of hard work. Ruth Jepson, George Riggs, Edwin Withington and Lowell Malan comprised the cast. Fred Wakeman was the director.

Sustained atmosphere was the outstanding quality of the freshman play. Paul Campbell is to be remembered as a mad sea captain, while Ethel Dean Johnson was convincing as his eminently normal daughter. Merwin Elwell made use of a good voice in his characterization of the captain's son. The play was directed by Dick Trent Paris.

The seniors presented Strindberg's psychological melodrama, Simoom, in which Max Coleman shouldered a difficult part with considerable successs. The sophomore contest play was The Gallows Gate, by Marjorie Stoneman Douglas. Clifford Leach, Sarah Kimpton and Merritt Peterson contributed the best performances. August Harris directed.

Malan, Riggs, Jepson, Withirgton

Mr. Bonacker, left, who points with pride, and Mr. Cowgill, right, who views with alarm, shown ready to stand forth and deliver. These gentlemen are this year's champions at the ancient art of oratory, which consists largely in expressing oneself with warmth and restraint, with a big majority in favor of the former.

ORATORY

A great criticism of American youth has been that it is passive and non-observing in regard to the important human affairs of our time. This is not entirely true, however, for oratory alone presents a field in which the student may express his ideas concerning the world's needs and present his solution for the solving of its problems. Perhaps he will point to some of the underlying wrongs as found in our civilization, wrongs which are often more than just material for orations.

Three principal oratorical contests are held each year. The first of these is the "Old Line Contest." This year the Old Line was won by Ralph Bonacker, with an oration entitled "Lynch Law." The speaker set forth the problem of lynching as it faces us in the United States and left ringing in our ears the accusation of "ten thousand Maryvilles." Bonacker won second place in the state contest.

The Peace Contest is also of special interest and the Park orator, Don Cowgill, won second place in the state peace contest. The title of his oration was "Security Seekers." This contest is provided with the hope of stirring student thought and opinion on matters relating to peace.

The Lawrence Oratorical Contest is held in the spring, and is open only to juniors and seniors.

The field of oratory is one in which sincere effort is particularly well rewarded. Park has for many years trained gifted orators, and the tradition seems to continue.

Lutz, Campbell, Barton, Bonacker. Magers, Pierce, Cowgill.

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S DEBATE

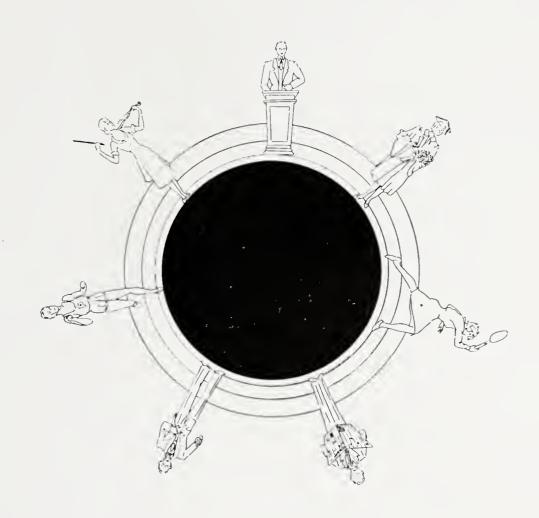

Since the founding of Park, the college has been outstanding in the field of forensics. Today, although the school spirit does not show itself so markedly on the debate platform, nevertheless there is a genuine interest in the work by those who love debate for its own merit and wish to gain the invaluable training in poise, speaking ability and quick thinking which such activity undoubtedly gives.

This year a great deal has been accomplished by those participating in debates. The choosing of the squad differed a great deal from former years, in that everyone interested could join the class and his success depended upon his personal initiative and ability. As a result a hard-working and interested group of debaters has been produced.

The main topic for discussion was the Pi Kappa Delta question, Resolved: That congress should enact legislation providing for the control of industry. The most prominent team for the men was Hylton Harmon and Malcolm Magers. The outstanding women's team was Enid Cole and Evelyn Pierce. Other members of the squad were: Dan Brandner, Melvin Campbell, Beulah Counts, Don Cowgill, Loucile Mayhew, Joseph Walker, Josephine Ver Brugge, Arthur Young and Aubrey Young. Some of the schools debated were: State Teacher's College of Emporia, St. Benedict's, Friends University, Kansas City, Kansas, Junior College, and the University of South Dakota. The women's team won third place in the pre-seasonal debate tournament held at Winfield, Kansas.

THE PARK-LAWRENCE BAND

This, ladies and gentlemen, is Jean Faurot, master of the sounding brass and tinkling cymbal, who attributes his success in life to being always a quarter of an hour ahead of time, who believes that if one wishes a thing well done he should do it himself and therefore writes his own arrangements and never serves on committees.

Youth with its harmony, rhythm, and exuberance, often expresses itself in music. Park College students have this opportunity offered them by the Park-Lawrence Band and the college orchestra. Professor Claude O. Rader of Kansas City is the director of the band. The student assistants are Jean Faurot, assistant director, and Jack Rodeman, business manager.

The band was organized in 1902 through the kindness of Mrs. G. A. Lawrence, a friend of Park. The band plays at many campus activities and public programs, and annually at the American Royal Stock Show in Kansas City, this year leading the procession of Missouri college bands. During the year the band has given several enjoyable open-air concerts for the community of Parkville.

Professor Rader's talent and patience have kept Park College orchestras consistently excellent in musicianship for many years. Largely through his efforts interest in music has rapidly increased at Park and the school now not only offers better opportunities than ever before for students of music, but also more frequent entertainment for those of us who only sit and listen.

THE PARK COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

The Park College Orchestra is directed by Professor Claude O. Rader of Kansas City, who is assisted by Jean Faurot, the student director. Professor Rader, who has written a text book for orchestral training, is exceptionally well fitted to train students for the orchestra and it is his influence which gives the orchestra its excellence. The orchestra is partially endowed by Mrs. George A. Lawrence, who enables the organization to maintain some of its own instruments. The members not only receive the cultural and educational value of the orchestra, as well as the great pleasure connected with it, but they also receive college credit. An evening's entertainment is given annually, which always proves enjoyable both in technique and selection of numbers.

THE MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Reading from left to right, Dale Bartlett, snapped just as he was being photographed. Seems to find time between radio broadcasts to be student director of the Glee Club. Specialty—giving the public what it wants. Of course, the public doesn't know what it wants, but that never troubles Mr. Bartlett. "Make funny faces, fellows."

The Men's Glee Club holds its important position in the musical life of the campus not only because it is the oldest organization of its kind at Park, but because of the artistic standards it has been able to maintain. The Glee Club was organized in 1875 by Dr. J. E. McAfee. Under the able direction of Prof. R. V. Magers the club has progressed steadily to its present position. This year the Glee Club sang over radio station WDAF at Kansas City during the nation-wide Park broadcast, which was sponsored by the Alumni Association. The organization also sang in several Kansas City churches during the year. In addition to its music at various campus entertainments, the club presents one complete evening's program each year.

This year the Men's Glee Club is under the direction of Mr. L. S. Frank.

After an absence of a year Alice Doll returned to the campus this year to get a background for further musical study. Her work as student director of the Girls' Glee Club has found pleasant results and though the appearances of this group have not been frequent they have been among the most delightful musical programs of the year.

THE WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

Four years ago the Women's Glee Club existed as an organization at Park, but for two years the girls were inactive as a vocal organization. The club was reorganized this year under the supervision of Mrs. Alberta Brewster, voice teacher from Kansas City, with Alice Doll as the student director and accompanist. The club, composed of twenty voices, sang several times at church and chapel and gave as the feature of its year's program a spring concert.

The voices are of that free flowing and lyrical type which truly characterizes youth. They not only have true tone quality and give an excellent interpretation of even the most pretentious songs, but they sing with vitality and expression.

THE CHOIR

Professor Magers, Park's grand old man of music, is completing his twenty-fourth year as director of the Choir, which constitutes a most impressive part of every Sunday church service. Always on time and faithful to his duties, Professor Magers' love of music is apparent in the wholehearted manner in which he conducts the Choir.

For more than half a century the Park College Choir has played a major part in the church services, lending much to the spiritual atmosphere of the church through its interpretation of sacred music.

Professor Roy V. Magers is directing the Park College Choir for the twenty-fourth year. During his long experience he has gained praise and gratitude for his fine leadership. Mr. L. S. Frank, the college organist, was graduated from the Oberlin Conservatory of Music in 1931. Ruth Yoakum is the student organist.

Membership in the choir is valuable because of the good musical training it affords. It not only develops musical taste, but trains the ear for part singing.

"THE MARRIAGE OF NANNETTE"

Swiftly moving, thrilling romance featured The Marriage of Nannette, which was presented as the annual Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Operetta. Nannette, a pretty little French peasant girl, is thwarted in love by evil designs of her mother to kidnap the duc's fiancee and to put the daughter in her place, but Nannette succeeds in marrying her real lover. There is much pomp and glory in the French village of Champe-des-Fleurs, as the townspeople prepare for the duc's marriage. When everything is ready, the bride fails to appear and kidnapping parties begin searching everywhere for her. At the last minute the bride, Heloise, appears in time for the wedding. After the wedding ceremony she takes off the veil, which she has always worn. The duc receives a big shock at the sight of her face. Dame Rumour had always said that she wore a veil to hide per priceless beauty from the world, but actually it was to hide a face of unthinkable ugliness. The duc bewails his fate, but decides he must endure her in spite of her homely face.

THE PARKOLLEGIANS

Vi Gordon and Eunice Clark, the "sweet sisters of song," who help the Parkollegians brighten the corner in the Commons on occasional Tuesday evenings. And whether it's "Down by the Sycamore Tree" or "In a Little Penthouse 'Way Up in the Sky," you're sure to hear a chorus hot and sweet. Give 'em a hand, folks!

Many feet tapped in the Commons on Tuesday nights, when we were entertained by the Parkollegians, Jean Faurot's nine virtuosi, who regaled us with the latest hits, consistently bringing us the best dance music. Few musical aggregations have been as widely popular, and deservedly so, as the Parkollegians. They had that much desired "something," and consequently were in demand for dormitory and club parties, as well as at the Commons.

This year the Parkollegians furnished an evening's program of music and comedy which was enthusiastically received.

Don Mackenzie, Editor

Dan Brandner, Business Manager

In setting forth another record of a year's activity at Park, we have chosen as the theme of the 1932 Narva the Spirit of Modern Youth, emphasizing it in four of its goals—Knowledge, Leadership, Health, and Fellowship, crowning all in the apex of the Success of Achievement.

Youth is eternal in its quest for truth and light. In the present day this characteristic of young people is evidenced by the widespread desire for academic training, and the response of educational leaders of the world has been great, and the trend toward a well-educated population is marked.

Growing out of knowledge will be found the capacity for leadership. The youth of today are the leaders of tomorrow, and to Modern Youth the older generation is looking for those who will guide our civilization to greater heights of achievement. In our hands lies the future progress of our people.

Little good would a well-trained mind do if it were not a part of a well-trained body. Youth is continually striving for physical perfection. It demands an opportunity to develop physically as well as mentally and to this end have been devoted the athletic activities of our generation.

Mental and physical development alone would result in a very unbalanced personality. Youth demands a social education and development, realizing that only a person who is socially educated is able to live in harmony with his fellow beings.

Crowning all of these, the desire for Knowledge, the quality of leadership, the creation of a physically perfect body, and the quality of fellowship, with the Success of Achievement, our product is a personality whose appreciation of the fulness of life is a source of great happiness to the individual himself and to those who surround him.

THE 1932 NARVA

The editor and business manager wish to express their thanks to Joseph McKibben, who gave freely of his time in making the group pictures for the 1932 Narva.

August Harris and Robert Westlake gave considerable assistance in securing advertising. Annabelle Chambers, Elizabeth Wright, Charlotte Hess, Kathleen Boyle, Joe Ver Brugge and Flossie May Hastings deserve special recognition for selling subscriptions in their dormitories.

We also take this opportunity to thank Mr. T. J. Manry of the Burger-Baird Engraving Company for his aid in making the 1932 Narva a financial success.

To all those who helped in any way in producing the 1932 Narva we extend our heartiest thanks.

THE PARK STYLUS

Looking from left to right we have Max Jensen, the Stylus' amiable business manager, and Fred Wakeman, its editor. Max is examining a sheaf of lucrative advertising contracts, while Fred turns out a colossal thought or two.

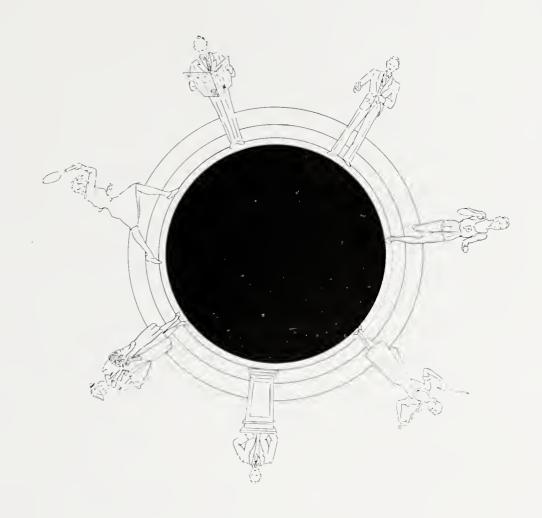

The Park Stylus, founded in the nineties as a monthly publication, is the weekly newspaper of the student body. The paper is exceptional among college publications of its type, in that it maintains an undeniably high standard of journalism. A comparison with most of its small college contemporaries reveals the superiority of the Stylus in originality and style. In these columns a medium is provided not only for a reporting of the week's happenings, but for some expression of student opinion. The Stylus is an important outlet for student talents, journalistic and literary. Notable during the year were the Christmas Edition and the Literary Edition, both of which were unique in style and layout.

ALPHA DELTA

Each college student's goal and purpose differs greatly from that of his fellow classmate. College is ultimately for the individual and it is he alone who shapes his course which can vary a great deal according to what direction the student's interests lie. It may be that the student considers extra-curricular activity as of the greatest value and so aligns himself with that field of interest and devotes much of his time to it. Then, too, the student also often feels that it is wise to indulge in a balanced course and so spends his time between outside activity and scholastic achievement. There are those, however, who in search of the gleam of knowledge find their greatest interest in the scholastic realm and to that end devote their major efforts. To these there seems to be a high realization of the seriousness of college life and also the realization of the opportunities offered. With this in view they strive to gain all that is possible in the field of knowledge.

To this last group the members of Alpha Delta, local scholastic honor society, belong and well do they deserve the honor bestowed upon them. The membership in this organization is restricted to faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa, to those who have been first honor graduates at Park and to ten percent of the senior class who stand highest in scholarship during their entire college career. Such a record is worthy of high consideration and honor which accompanies the appointment to Alpha Delta.

HONORS COURSES

The honors courses were instituted for the studious and intellectually curious. In following such a course the student receives valuable training for graduate work, and accomplishes much more in his special field of concentration because he is under the individual supervision and personal guidance of a faculty member in his department.

The honors courses were first instituted at Park in 1927 and have proved very successful, with enrollment increases each year. In Honors work a student may devote only a part of his time to this type of work in the junior year, but may devote all his time to this program in the senior year. These students are released from the ordinary routine in course work, such as tests, class attendance, etc., but are held responsible for a final comprehensive examination at the end of the senior year. This is partly written and partly oral. The orals are given by outside examiners.

This year there are fourteen students enrolled in honors courses in various departments. The work is closely supervised by the faculty sponsor, and a special comprehensive examination dealing with the entire field of his endeavor and especially the section under concentration, is given the honors student at the end of the senior year.

PI KAPPA DELTA

There are many who find a great field of interest in oratory and debate, and to these people the work alone in this realm of endeavor is fully remunerative in pleasure and increased ability. To those who attain excellence in oratory and debate, a higher honor than mere recognition of ability is given. This honor is membership in Pi Kappa Delta, the national honorary forensic fraternity. It is a mark of distinction to wear the Pi Kappa Delta pin, gold for debate, silver for oratory, showing both personal achievement and service to the school, for the requirements of the fraternity are high and those who are admitted to membership must have represented their school in a required number of debates, or have distinguished themselves in oratory. Each year the local fraternity sends a representation to the Pi Kappa Delta convention, which was held this year at Tulsa, Oklahoma. Park sent a women's debate team composed of Enid Cole and Evelyn Pierce, and a men's team, Hylton Harmon and Malcolm Magers. Ralph Bonacker was the representative in oratory.

THETA ALPHA PHI

Park has an active chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity. Its members are chosen through a system of crediting dramatic roles, so that students who participate, because of superior talent in the greatest number of plays, form the enrollment of the society. For that reason Theta Alpha Phi represents the best in campus drama. Yet it is not merely an honorary organization, for it stimulates dramatic activities and interests in many ways; it is the major influence in the college theater.

Theta Alpha Phi sponsors each year an interclass one act play contest, subsidizing the four productions from its own treasury. The fraternity also sponsors annually a full-length play whose cast is picked from the student body at large. This year the play was Outward Bound. Theta Alpha Phi produces an all-member play during each commencement season.

BETA PI THETA

The local chapter, Theta Eta, of the national honorary French fraternity, Beta Pi Theta, was organized at Park in 1926 for the purpose of promoting the study of French culture, especially French literature. It encourages free discourse in the French language, both spoken and written. To accomplish this purpose French plays are enacted and popular literature read in French.

The membership is selected from those students who are officially classified in the three upper classes who are either majoring or minoring in French, and who are doing work well above the average in the department.

The national fraternity seeks to promote literary French in America through the influence, travel, research and discourse of its members. The local chapter attempts to arouse interest in the French language and literature by bringing to the campus speakers associated with French culture. This year they presented Monsieur Des Clos, a French educator and artist in an interesting and educational illustrated lecture.

As an impetus for high scholarship among the freshmen French students, the local chapter of Beta Pi Theta offers annually a prize of five dollars to the freshman having the best scholarship record in French during the year.

The local chapter meets regularly for study and to hear reports on French poetry, drama, novels and literary masters.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

There is no place in modern America where the Boy Scout movement is not known among youth. Alpha Phi Omega, honorary scouting fraternity, helps to carry on to the college men the tradition of service and honor which has been emphasized in scouting.

The purpose of the fraternity is to bring together college men in the spirit of the Scout Oath and Law, to develop friendships and promote service among the youth of America. Membership is granted only college students who have been previously affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America.

Iota, the local chapter has a three-fold program: to serve its own members as a medium of association on the campus in the spirit and fellowship of Scouts and former Scouts; to provide a friendly "big brother" to freshmen on the campus, and especially to former Scouts in the incoming classes; to render constructive service to the Boy Scout movement by sponsoring the local troop, by co-operating with the local council, and by developing responsible leaders to carry on the Scout program as alumni.

THE R. V. MAGERS HISTORY CLUB AND

THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations and History Club is a combined effort on the part of historically and sociologically minded students to study recent political and economic developments in the light of the past, recorded events. Such study is carried on by book reviews and papers upon vital and interesting topics. The organization is sponsored by Professors R. V. Magers and Neil H. Baxter.

It is the purpose of the history club to develop the student's mind so that he can interpret intelligently and critically the era in which he is living the political and social facts which surround him in everyday life.

The club has brought to the campus this year several unusual and interesting speakers for public lectures. Professor Melvin of the University of Kansas delivered a most interesting address on the field of history, telling of many of his interesting experiences in Europe.

The club also brought Dr. Edward F. Nickoley of Beirut, Syria, to the campus. Dr. Nickoley has been associated with the American College in Beirut, but is at present exchange professor at the University of Illinois. He delivered three interesting lectures during his visit to the campus.

THE PAULINE HAWLEY MUSIC CLUB

The Pauline Hawley Music Club was established this year and is the first departmental club to be organized in the department of music. It is named in honor of the Lady of the White House because of her fondness of music, her appreciation of musical talent, and the keen interest she takes in the musical activities of the campus. A charter was drawn up by a committee appointed by the club.

The membership consists of two kinds, regular and social members. Anyone receiving instruction in the music department or who is a member of a musical organization of the college is entitled to be a regular member. All those who are interested in music may become social members.

The club was organized for two purposes—for intellectual pursuits in the realm of music, and for social enjoyment. The first public presentation of the club was a solo recital by Harold von Swischer, student violinist.

The club sang Christmas carols at many of the homes in the village just before the Christmas holidays and early this spring sponsored the organ recital played by Professor Anderson of the University of Kansas.

Activity other than these outward evidences of interest and accomplishment has been shown in bi-weekly meetings where musical forms and composers and their works have been studied with the end in view of developing an appreciation of one of the finest of arts, music.

Let me but do my work from day to day,
In field or forest, at the desk or loom,
In roaring market place or tranquil room;
Let me but find it in my heart to say,
When vagrant wishes beckon me astray,
'This is my work, my blessing, not my doom;
Of all who live I am the one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way.''

Then shall I see it not too great, nor small,

To suit my spirit and to prove my powers,

Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours,

And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall

At eventide, to play and love and rest,

Because I know for me my work is best.

Have you ever stopped to consider how much electricity does for you every day and how little it asks in return. Nearly every one of the dozens of jobs electricity performs in the modern home may be paid for with pennies. Waffles for the whole family, for instance, can be made for only a few cents. A toaster costs even less to operate and coffee can be made for only a fraction of a cent a cup. When you consider these really insignificant costs, what money you spend brings greater return in comfort and convenience? Just think it over!

"UNCLE WALTER" 1859-1932

"Uncle Walter Wolfe"

The campfire sent a flutter of sparks upward. The boys and girls seated around the fire in small groups murmured in undertones or sat back and contentedly watched the lazy smoke drift down the valley. "Uncle Walter" joined one group, now another. Sometimes he would offer a word or two in the discussion but more often he laid his hand on the shoulder of a boy and just listened. Then when the sun dropped behind the hills overshadowing Tiffany Springs, he would say, "It's time to go, boys. Remember, we promised to get the girls in by seventhirty."

And then again, we remember "Uncle Walter" as we saw him walking slowly about the campus, stopping now and then to talk to a student. Everyone was sure of a pleasant word and a kindly smile from him. He often dropped into the library to examine the latest magazines and to chat with the librarians.

But those who will feel more than others, perhaps, that "Uncle Walter's" going will leave one small corner of their hearts bare, are the boys of his Sunday School class and the Student Volunteers. In this day of questioning creeds and changing faiths "Uncle Walter" preached the living Christ and lived the truths He taught.

A NEW SERVICE TO NARVA OWNERS

Ready written notes from prominent people. Simply write your own name on the dotted line.

Dear____:

It has been a great pleasure to know you (to know you won't be here next year). Do you remember the Bible course we took together? (I took the notes and you took the grade.) I think we have a great deal in common (that history book we bought together, for instance). Won't you write me (a check for it) sometime?

Sincerely,

ERNEST PORZSOLT.

Lovingly,

FRANKLIN BRUCE.

Dear____:

I shall never forget the days together at Park. I shall always remember them. Dear old kitchen cleaning. I hope to see more of you next year.

Love,

Dear____:

How well I remember the first time I saw you. You were coming down Mackay steps. You didn't notice me, of course, but I made up my mind, "That's somebody I want to know," and I'm glad I did.

Most sincerely.

BENEDICTION

Down behind the tree enshrouded hill,
The sun, in hues resplendent, slowly rolls,
Reflecting in the river and clouds until
Earth seems flooded with crimsons, blues, and golds,
And we pause awhile at the end of the day to see
This benediction on labor and fidelity.
